About Seven Per Cent

Budget May Mean City Tax Increase

Expenditures Up By Half a Million?

By R. O. MARRION

A provisional budget will be placed in front of city council next week which, before council goes to work on it, will probably call for a three or 3½-mill increase (roughly seven per cent) in the city tax rate.

Last of the departmental estimates to be completed, the police budget, is scheduled to be submitted Friday, and the whole provisional city budget likely will be assembled and ready for council consideration by mid-week.

Despite determined trimming by council committees in recent weeks, the departmental estimates are almost all higher than last year's, and the total of estimated 1957 expenditure in the provisional budget is expected to be almost $500,000 more than was finally approved for 1956.

REVENUE UP, TOO

That increase would mean a rise of more than six mills in the tax rate, except that estimated revenue is higher, too, this year—almost three mills higher, according to the city comptroller.

Almost none of the increase in expenditure this year will be attributable to a rise in school costs. Acceptance by the provincial government of a larger share of Greater Victoria school costs, and the recently-ordered increase in Saanich assessments, have reduced Victoria's school mill-rate from a previously-indicated 18 mills to 15.03 mills. Last year's rate was 14.84 mills.

Left without this whipping-boy, some aldermen are expected to make an even more aggressive effort than usual to cut the budget for general purposes.

But there is small chance of unanimity on any reductions proposed. Most aldermen, as members of council committees, are determined to fight just as hard against further cuts in the estimates for the departments under their committees' jurisdiction.

A three-mill increase in the tax rate, if finally approved, would add about $12 to the taxes of an average home-owner.

Missing Off Oak Bay

Air-Sea Search On For Three City Boys

A radar-equipped navy crash boat and another vessel hunted choppy night seas off Oak Bay early today for three young boys missing some 15 hours, without lifejackets, in a tiny pleasure boat.

A full-scale air and sea search was to be launched at daybreak.

Although westerly winds gusting to 26 miles an hour were roughening the waters, strong hope was maintained up to press time that the boys, who knew the waters well, had safely encamped on an island when rising afternoon winds began to roughen the seas.

The boys, all Oak Bay High School students and all 16 years old, are:

Roger Peeke-Vout, 2730 Foul Bay Road, owner of the boat; Barry Menzies, 1860 Greatford Place, and Alec Campbell, 1834 Newton.

They left from Oak Bay about 10 a.m. for a day's fishing in a 10-foot fibreglass boat powered by a small outboard motor.

Their parents, used to the boys' fishing trips, only began to worry as darkness fell.

NAVY STEPS IN

B.C. Pilotage boat No. 2 started a search of the Discovery Island-Chatham Island area at 9.15 p.m. The navy swung into action at 11.30.

RCAF Air-Sea Search and Rescue headquarters alerted all shipping and scheduled a low level air sweep of the area for 7 a.m.

Royal Victoria Yacht Club and Island Tug and Barge Ltd. were standing by.

"Tugs and other vessels will be organized in the morning and a full-scale search will be launched," an RCAF spokesman said.

Today's weather may hamper the search. The weather office said late last night this morning's weather was expected to be cloudy, with rain and winds southerly 15.

The boys, lightly clad and without food in their small white boat, were expected back about 4 or 5 p.m., Mrs. Marion B. Campbell said.

"But they are sensible boys and they more than likely had sense enough to head for an island.

"I only hope they were not caught in a tide rip.

Mrs. Campbell, with Mrs. W. L. Menzies and Mr. and Mrs. George P. Peeke-Vout, went to the beach after 5 p.m. but failed to see any sign of the boys.

W. B. Johnston, lighthouse keeper at Trial Island, said the lads could not have gone past Trial Island into the open sea because of wind and tide during the day.

Mrs. Betty Scott, co-proprietor of Oak Bay Boathouse, said "only a few boats went out from here today because it was fairly rough and I warned them all to hug the shore."

Young St. Laurent Raps Spy, B.C. Crackpots in Commons

Feeling the Way For Dad, He Says

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Jean-Paul St. Laurent said here last night that the Liberal party would gladly trade two of its seats in Quebec for a gain of one in Western Canada.

He also told a Liberal meeting that his father would continue to lead the party for at least five more years "if Providence wills it."

St. Laurent, member for Temiscouta, Que., spoke at a rally for Liberal MP Elmore Philpott, seeking re-election in Vancouver South.

He said he was also "feeling the way" for a western campaign tour next month by his father, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

"The Liberals will elect more members in the June election than we did in 1953," he told an audience of more than 500 persons, including Peer Paynter, a long-time Social Credit organizer and Socred candidate in Vancouver-Burrard.

St. Laurent said afterward that he hadn't even heard of Paynter until a reporter told him he was there.

"I know of a few former Social Creditors here who will vote Liberal this time around, but I didn't know they were planting spies at our meetings," he said.

In his speech, St. Laurent said:

"Quebec Liberals would be glad to give up two seats for every single Liberal seat we could gain in the West, particularly in British Columbia.

This is because we need a stronger western voice in our committee meetings and a Liberal caucus instead of those crackpots from the west we now have in the opposition.'

He compared his father with other "grand od men of politics" like Sir Winston Churchill.

St. Laurent also said that the Social Credit party could never gain a single seat in Quebec and hasn't a hope of ever winning an election.

'Digging Pays Better'

Clerics To Get Higher Salaries

Minimum annual stipend for Anglican clergymen on Vancouver Island was raised $300 a year to $2,700 at the 55th session of the synod of the Diocese of British Columbia yesterday.

"You can go out and dig in a ditch an get more pay than a minister is getting now," said a layman, C. F. Banfield.

Salary of Archbishop Harold E. Sexton was raised from $4,000 to $6,000 a year.

His current stipend, the archbishop said, is equivalent to that of a carpenter.

"There is no layman in this room who would go live in that great house at $400 a month," he said.

Keep the Atmosphere Of Government House

British Columbia's new Government House should retain the "atmosphere" of the former structure destroyed by fire last week, Premier Bennett said yesterday. (See page 17.)

"I hope they keep the atmosphere of the old Government House," he stated. "I would like to see such things as the ballroom and the rooms reproduced as near as possible."

Meeting Set To Replace St. Laurent?

RENFREW, Ont. (CP) — Ottawa lawyer Kenneth Binks, a Progressive Conservative, said Wednesday night he has heard a Liberal leadership convention will be held in Ottawa Oct. 23 to 26 to choose a successor to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Jobs Handed Out . . .

. . . In House of Commons

Bennett Bares 'Patronage Room'

Premier Bennett yesterday elaborated on his charge that patronage existed in Ottawa and said he had been turned out of a room in the House of Commons where a Liberal MP was doling out government jobs to the party faithful.

He said he had been allocated a room to use as an office during the federal-provincial conference last year.

But when he tried to enter the room he was stopped by a woman secretary, who allegedly said:

"You can't have this room. All these people are coming in looking for jobs and we have to look after them."

The premier refused to name the MP who was giving out the jobs, but said it was one of the Liberal members for Ottawa. There are only two.

During a press conference in Montreal earlier this week the premier had charged the Liberal government with gross patronage and, when asked for an example, said: "Horses on the payroll."

But yesterday Premier Bennett said he was not referring to the famed Petawawa case but Liberal "party wheel horses on the federal payroll."

"This tremendous political patronage is resented," he said at a press conference. "The Liberal Party has been too long in power in Canada."

Premier Bennett said he never did get into the room which he had been advised by letter was allocated to him.

"What sort of jobs were being given out?" asked a reporter.

"I don't know—government jobs," he replied.

He said the House of Commons was not in session at the time and several times parried reporters' questions by answering, "I'm not going to say who it was."

But the premier did promise to make public more instances of Liberal patronage as the federal election campaign goes on.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

PREMIER Bennett of British Columbia and Jean-Paul St. Laurent, son of the prime minister of Canada, ignored each other for 11 hours on a flight from Montreal to Vancouver.

[illegible] the performance of some British travellers, who have gone half-way around the globe without exchanging a word.

Canada cannot yet hope to match the famed British reserve, which is said to extend to the next world and inhibit one well-bred Anglo-Saxon angel from addressing another, even if they are flying in close formation.

However, Mr. Bennett and Mr. St. Laurent Jr. have made a good beginning. As the federal election draws closer, you might say they shape up as a pair of promising rookies. Between elections they might both get in some practice ignoring the voters' wishes.

They may acquire skill at the ignoring game, as time goes on.

In a sense, these two eminent Canadians are ahead of the British. An Englishman excels at pretending that strangers do not exist. Observers have pointed out that he has developed that custom in a crowded island as a defence mechanism. Since he cannot isolate himself physically from the too-close and too-numerous presence of his countrymen he isolates himself in the mind.

Practised through the Englishman is at ignoring strangers he does not usually go in for ignoring acquaintances. He is too polite for that. And his reserve is not as glacial as legend says. In a contest between good manners and the inclination to be alone, good manners usually win.

Contrary to popular opinion, Englishmen do introduce themselves to each other when they see fit. So do reasonable Canadians, Italians, Poles or Eskimos—almost anyone, in fact, except a couple of tricky-tempered politicians at opposite ends of an aircraft and at opposite ends of the political scale.

Astronomers Lie in Wait For Comet

Astronomers at Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich are hoping to get a picture tonight of Comet 1956-H.

Clouds obscured the comet last night.

The comet, nearly 70,000,000 miles away, is expected to be visible just above the horizon of the northwest sky for about an hour after sunset, for approximately two weeks.

Under ideal conditions, its tail, probably millions of miles long, might also be visible.

Negro in Alabama

Death Penalty For Burglary

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—A 26-year-old Negro was formally sentenced yesterday to be electrocuted for burglary.

An all-white circuit court jury Tuesday found Charles Clarence Hamilton guilty of first-degree burglary and condemned him to death in the electric chair.

His defence attorney, Clell Mayfield, immediately began work on an appeal. State law provides for an automatic appeal to the state supreme court in all death penalty cases.

Hamilton told the court he did not want an attorney during the trial. But Judge Wallace Gibson refused to accept Mayfield's offer to withdraw from the case.

"DEFEND MYSELF"

"This isn't my attorney," Hamilton said. "I want to defend myself."

Judge Gibson later complimented Mayfield on his defence of his "reluctant client." Mayfield has been practising law for only five months.

Prosecutor Cecil Deason demanded the death penalty as he accused Hamilton of breaking into the home of a young white couple last October with intent to ravish.

Hamilton denied Deason's accusation. The Negro said he was walking past the home when the couple's grandmother ran out, and talking "Italian or something," pulled him by the arm into the house.

Hamilton said he thought the woman wanted assistance.

AT GUNPOINT

However, Jacob Milko testified he found Hamilton standing partly clad in a hallway of his home and held him at gunpoint until police arrived.

First degree burglary in Alabama carries a penalty of from 10 years to death.

White Justice

Slew Negro, Goes Free

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP)—A 23-year-old white man Tuesday received a five-year suspended sentence after a jury convicted him of murder without malice in the rifle slaying of a 16-year-old Negro.

Lawyers for Perry Dean Ross said the slaying followed a dispute involving location of a new Negro school. But they said Ross had no intention of killing John Earl Reece, 16.

Reece was killed Oct. 22, 1955, when nine shots were fired into a Negro cafe. Two Negro girls were wounded.

Ross was charged with murder with malice, the highest degree in Texas, but the jury convicted him of murder without malice, a lesser charge.

In a statement Ross said he and a companion, Joe Reagan Simpson, 22, had been drinking beer when "the thought occurred to us, 'Let's make a raid.'"

Ross admitted he and Simpson fired a rifle from their speeding car into the cafe, where Negroes were dancing; riddled an unoccupied Negro school bus; then fired into the home of another Negro, John Beckworth.

Youth Shoots Negro

CHICAGO (AP)—A 17-year-old Negro was killed by a shotgun blast as he walked along a street.

The shooting of Curtis Bevins climaxed a fresh outbreak of teen-age violence in Chicago. The gun was fired from a moving car containing two youths and a 17-year-old girl.

Police said David Vandersteeg, 19, a laborer, admitted yesterday he fired the shotgun.

Pageant of History

Anglicans Plan To Celebrate Own Centenary

A pageant of English church history may be presented in 1959 to mark the centenary of the Diocese of British Columbia of the Anglican Church.

Archbishop Harold E. Sexton told the synod of the diocese that he would appoint a committee to arrange centennial observances.

The pageant, he said, might be concluded with a section relating to local church history.

"If the synod wishes to consider a special centennial project, I would suggest that a real effort be made to establish an Anglican old people's home, with special consideration for retired clergy and their widows."

The occasion also calls for a visit from one or more leading churchmen of the Anglican communion, the archbishop said.

Archbishop Sexton said he hoped "suitable religious services will be held everywhere" during the province's centenary in 1958, and pledged "fullest" Anglican co-operation.

In another part of his address to the 55th session of the synod, the archbishop called for "the greatest vigilance in our parishes so that we may always be ready to banish and drive away all erroneous and strange doctrines contrary to God's Word."

"A disturbing feature of the religious life of today is the manner in which the people allow themselves to be exploited by representatives of fancy religions, and plausible systems, which are, in the main, ancient heresies in modern dress."

Archbishop Sexton announced that he was relinquishing the archdeaconry of Columbia, a post he has held since 1935. An appointment of a full-time archdeacon of Columbia will be made soon, he said.

Diocesan Report

'Don't Expect Problem Child'

Adults were urged yesterday not to expect the average growing boy and girl to become a "problem."

Report of the diocesan council for social service to the 55th session of the synod of the Diocese of British Columbia, called upon "all church folk to demonstrate a greater desire to understand and sympathize with the adolescent as he struggles to find his feet in a tense and shifting environment."

The council is headed by Rev. William Hills of St. George the Martyr Anglican Church, Cadboro Bay.

"We view with alarm the rise of the cult of the teenager," the report said.

"An old saying warns: 'Give a dog a bad name, and he'll live up to it.' Perhaps the recent publicity concerning activities of the adolescent has worked in this fashion."

"It is still true of the vast numbers of young people of the church as it was true of Our Blessed Lord that they have increased in wisdom and in stature, and in favor with God and man," the report continued.

The synod passed a resolution that its executive committee take action to organize a men's organization on a diocesan scale.

Lack of any organization for the men of the church is one of two "serious weaknesses" in diocesan life, Archbishop Harold E. Sexton said in his address to the synod.

The other weakness is the "unsatisfactory condition" of the Anglican Young People's Association.

"In many parishes, the members of the latter society have often been left too much to themselves, with little or no supervision from the priest or any other responsible churchman, and it has in consequence grown weak, or even ceased to exist," the archbishop said.

Gallery Amasses Works, Members

More works have been acquired for the Moss Street Art Gallery in the past three months than were collected during the previous five years, members were told last night.

Curator Colin Graham told the annual meeting that almost 50 new works had been accumulated in the past three months. Some 42 exhibitions had been held in the past year and only 10 of these were predominately modern, he said.

Membership of the gallery now stands at 944, a record total.

Cmdr. P. F. Fairfull was re-elected president for a second term. Elected to the board of directors were:

Dr. Robert Stark, A. R. Roberts, V. G. Pinhorn, Brian Tobin, Miss Marian James, Mrs. I. D. D. Uthhoff, Charles Craig, Mrs. A. S. Wyllie, Alex McBain, Mrs. Avis Walton, Guy Barclay and Mrs. Gordon Jennings.

Court Martial Told

Distress Signal Preceded Crash

WINNIPEG (CP)—A man in charge of traffic control at Winnipeg's Stevenson Field told a five-member court martial here Wednesday that a Mitchell bomber sent out a distress signal shortly before it crashed in a residential district adjacent to the airfield.

FO John S. Sargent, 26, of Westwood, Ont., piloted an RCAF Mitchell bomber which crashed Feb. 17 just short of Stevenson Field and damaged three houses. None of the six aboard the bomber was seriously injured and no one on the ground was injured.

He pleaded not guilty to charges of negligently failing to make a refuelling stop en route when he knew or should have known that his plane had insufficient fuel to complete the flight; negligently failing to take appropriate emergency landing action on approach to an airfield; and negligently making a false entry in a document signed by him which was required for official purposes.

He pleaded guilty to a fourth charge of conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline in that he landed his plane at Patricia Bay, B.C., and so deviated from flight authorization orders.

Additional evidence heard at the court martial included an expert on crashed planes who said that not more than five gallons of fuel remained in the bomber when he examined it after it hit the ground.

A third witness testified that if he had been piloting the bomber and found himself in the position of the pilot, he would have made an emergency landing at Rivers, Man., before going on to Winnipeg.

At the conclusion of this evidence court was adjourned until 9 a.m. today when it is expected the accused officer will testify on his own behalf.

SIGNAL SENT

Joseph Forslund, in charge of traffic control at Stevenson Field said he was first in touch with the bomber when it was 25 miles away. He said he was advised that the fuel reserve was not what it should be. An occupant of the plane advised there might be trouble when the plane landed. This was not considered a state of emergency, said Mr. Forslund.

'There Ain't No Gotta For a Sailing Ship'

LONDON (UP)—Unfavorable winds forced the Mayflower II to turn southward yesterday and abandon the original North Atlantic route followed by the Pilgrims in 1620. The change in course was expected to delay the ship's arrival in the United States by about two weeks, thereby missing a May 23 welcoming ceremony at Plymouth, Mass.

The tiny sailing vessel, five days out of Plymouth, was about 300 miles west of England. Capt. Alan Villiers radioed his sponsors here: "We cannot reach Cape Cod before the first week of June. There ain't no 'gotta' for a sailing ship," he said after listening to protests.

Strategic Materials Banned

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States will insist on safeguards against sale of strategic materials in the projected allied move to relax trade barriers with Communist China, an administration spokesman said yesterday.

Harold C. McClellan, assistant secretary of commerce for international trade, said the United States was willing to discuss certain trade modifications between U.S. allies and the communist bloc to avoid losing all controls on such trade.

But he said, "We will insist on complete safeguards against trading in any strategic materials."

UNDER PRESSURE

McClellan said the United States for some time had been under pressure from its allies to relax east-west trade controls.

The state department Saturday proposed certain modifications in trade curbs for 14 U.S. allies who participate in the trade control program. Britain and Japan particularly have said they must have increased trade with China.

McClellan said that in the forthcoming Allied trade talks, the United States probably would make concessions on trade by its allies in certain non-strategic items, particularly in the Asian trade.

U.S. EMBARGO STAYS

But he said he was certain that President Eisenhower had no intention of recognizing Communist China or changing his attitude toward the U.S. embargo on trade with that nation.

He said the U.S. would continue its own policy of no trade at all with China or North Korea.

The commerce official said such commerce and did not believe the threat of a Communist [illegible]

No Room for Seat Warmers

THIS year's convention of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation has produced opinions and discussion of more than passing interest to the public generally. The teachers have been examining an aspect of the school system about which everybody is, or should be, concerned—the problem of waste. Not in this instance waste in the material sense, but waste of "free" education at the most expensive level on pupils who do nothing to deserve it.

To these undisciplined, disruptive and at times even menacing elements the teachers have applied the apt description of "seat warmers"; and the federation wants more authority to rid the schools of them. It should be given, for the maintenance of public schools has become such a financial burden on the community that there can be no place in them for those who not only won't work and study for their own improvement but won't let others do so either.

Delegates to the convention in Vancouver have been bluntly outspoken about this, and it seems that their patience with the slackers and troublemakers—patience enforced from above by modern education policy which appears to regard discipline as a dirty word—has just about reached the breaking point.

Orderly conduct of classes is one side of the picture. Value for money is the other, and is the one which chiefly concerns the taxpayers. Estimates varied at the convention as to the percentage of high school students who should be thrown out because of unruliness and consistent neglect to work. Accepting the conservative estimate of 5 to 7 per cent, it is obvious that expulsion of the slackers would save the municipalities and the Province many hundreds of thousands of dollars a year, in addition to improving efficiency generally. Worth noting is the fact that each undeserving pupil in high school represents something like $300 of public money thrown away every year.

Though mounting tax bills to support the schools are causing a great many people to re-examine the principle of it we still hear far too much these days about "free" education. It is more than time for the authorities, beginning with the provincial government, to reverse the emphasis, placing it on the privilege and responsibility more than the supposed right. One of the worst troubles of modern society is that far too many young people have been encouraged to believe that they have a right to travel through high school without any obligation on their part. It is a concept which is carried on into working life with serious effects all around.

Balkanizing Canada

PREMIER BENNETT'S entry into the realm of world affairs was none too successful. He told a Montreal press conference that Canada has no international friends because of her foreign policies. Obviously he knows much more about B.C. than he does about wider matters. The truth is that Canada has a fine reputation in the eyes of most other countries. Nor do the Suez and Norman issues, which he mentioned, becloud the fundamental friendship which exists between this country and Great Britain, France, and the United States. Mr. Bennett simply seeks to make political capital in a field wherein he is a stranger.

This is all part of what he proclaims is the march of Social Credit to federal office. It has become the practice in recent years for provincial premiers to perambulate around the country during federal election campaigns. Federal and provincial politics are so different it were better they were not mixed, and Mr. Bennett is doing a good job in handling the provincial affairs in his charge. That is a task big enough to demand undivided attention. It is quite apparent however that his eyes are on Ottawa, perhaps with visions of himself as a prime minister of Canada. In any such event, unlikely though it may be, B.C. would cease to be of primary concern to him.

Confidence approaching bravado being one of his characteristics, Mr. Bennett predicts that the Socreds can gain federal power in two bites, the first one being the capture of 40 seats in the June election. For the sake of the country it is to be hoped this bite is denied him. Any such gain would balkanize the Canadian political scene still further. Federal government in recent years has been bedevilled by split groups comprising the opposition, thus giving an extreme advantage to the party in office and promoting its authoritarian tendencies. Canada in fact has suffered of late from one-party rule, and the cure lies only in a national party of sufficient strength to offer alternative government or united opposition of a quality that forces the party in power to mind its ps and qs.

This is how a nation can secure the best government of its affairs. The Liberals have been too long in office and should be retired, and the sole agency able to take their place is the Conservative party. Voters would do well to remember this. The country needs a change, but this cannot come about by raising the nuisance value of minority groups. A Socred vote in June will merely help to ensure that the Liberals will be returned, primarily because of the solid hold this party has on Quebec. The rest of the nation can restore the two-party system by endorsing the cause of the Conservatives.

Festival of Arts

CONGRATULATIONS are due to Vancouver for its imaginative decision to hold an annual Festival of Arts, beginning in British Columbia's centennial year. The ambitious plan—it includes opera, symphony and other first-class musical and dramatic productions—will have a budget of $310,000 for its initial season, much of which already has been pledged to the city. Wisely, Vancouver is not attempting to copy any other community but is striking out on its own. An arts festival designed on this high plane, and to be developed by a permanent organization under experienced leadership, should prove a welcome permanent attraction not only to Vancouver but also in British Columbia generally.

Vancouver has the large resident population, the auditoriums and associated art groups to make such a plan feasible. Victoria, in spite of high talent, has not. What will work to the benefit of the mainland city, however, is this decision to start now on a progressive scheme using the centennial year for impetus, and building up gradually in the range and scope of the arts festival. The result should be an important addition to the cultural arts in Canada. The more that people are brought into contact with the best in music, in drama and in allied forms of artistic expression the greater becomes the desire for the best. There is no dearth of talent in British Columbia, but the past has been lacking in interest and support for its development.

Leader in Search of a Policy

By CHARLES McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

PRESIDENT Sukarno of Indonesia has manoeuvred himself into the most difficult situation he has faced in his 12 years as his country's leader.

He has decided that Indonesia must become a "guided democracy," as he calls it, instead of federal republic.

But it looks more and more as if the "guided democracy" will become a dictatorship.

The chief question seems to be whether Sukarno himself will be the dictator.

Ever since Indonesia under his leadership won its independence from The Netherlands, it has been torn by revolts and political bickering.

* * *

In his first step toward his guided democracy, Sukarno recently formed a 24-member emergency cabinet.

Officially it is called an extra-parliamentary cabinet. This means that, though it is supposed to be a coalition ministry, the various political parties are not represented in it in relation to their strength in parliament.

Sukarno's action in forming the cabinet is being criticized widely by both political parties and the army.

The army, which has always interested itself in politics, seems to be becoming an increasingly big factor in the tangled situation.

* * *

Sukarno at present wields virtual dictatorial power under a state of martial law.

But to exert that power, Sukarno needs the army. And there are indications in dispatches from Jakarta, the capital, that unless Sukarno gets control of the situation soon, the army may step in and proclaim a dictatorship of its own.

It was disclosed two weeks ago that the army had started to impose a censorship. Since then it has temporarily suspended the chief Indonesian news agency and two leading Jakarta newspapers for publishing news of which it disapproved.

Sukarno demanded in a speech last Thursday that the army stay out of politics. But the army seems to have no disposition to do so.

* * *

Sukarno's big handicap is that his republic of Indonesia is unwieldy. It has 82,000,000 people, spread through thousands of islands which stretch for 2,500 miles from the Indian Ocean to the Pacific.

Indonesia is supposed to be a federal republic. Actually, the republic always has been ruled by and for the benefit of Java, the main island.

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE morning sky was leaden and gloomy, it looked like rain, and so I sought my office mailbag for an antidote. I wasn't disappointed.

Among other things were two of those anonymous poison-pen missives. All columnists get them, and they brighten a dull day immensely.

I doubt they are intended to make columnists feel cheery, not judging by their contents anyway. Much the reverse, I daresay, and so if my reaction comes as a surprise to my nameless correspondents and robs them of their splenetic glee I beg their pardons.

I would not want to hurt their feelings.

* * *

For, of course, they suffer enough. One can only marvel at the mental make-up of persons who take pen or typewriters in hand to spout offensive words from behind the barricade of a pseudonym, or sans any signature at all. They must have a bad dose of jaundice.

They are strange beings. It is not enough that they might differ from someone else but that they should feel impelled to couch their difference in language full of discourtesy and abuse. I suppose they keep large stocks of vitriol handy.

Obviously they are afflicted with an inferiority complex and it gives their egos a big lift to "tell off" the object of their attack. One can imagine them licking the envelopes shut and then licking their lips as they conclude that "this will show him."

All it does of course is to show up the quality of the letter writer.

* * *

The strange thing about anonymous epistles is that invariably they are written by seemingly literate people. They are not the uneducated type of note one might associate with uncouth individuals, but instead so often are the products of ostensibly cultured persons.

Sometimes in fact the nameless one seeks to impress you by adopting a pen-name like "Socrates," doubtless to proclaim his wisdom. Being essentially kindhearted I hope the latest philosopher of this ilk never has to drink the potion fate reserved for his hero.

Sometimes the tack is along another line, as when a correspondent clips a piece of a column and covers it with marginal comments in red ink. Presumably the color is to indicate that although he does not sign himself he is a full-blooded he-man.

* * *

Yes, they are a strange breed. I suppose they don't attach their names in case I should publish their letters and let their identity betray their sullied souls to their friends.

Actually, they need not fear disclosure for I would not take advantage of their ailment. But not for the world would I have the door closed against their anonymous poison pens; not when the product comes to me, I mean. It brightens up the day and gets me off to a good start.

So you see I really owe them my thanks.

After all my wastepaper basket is fairly large and, naturally, after I have enjoyed reading letters of this kind that is where they go.

Reports from Ottawa

IF the Liberals could turn back the calendar to April 12, would we still be having an election on June 10?

April 12 was the day the opposition got its fingers into the Pandora's Box of the Norman case, just a few hours before dissolution of Parliament, and ripped a hole through which all sorts of odd and intriguing bits of information have been escaping ever since. And escaping, one one should add, to the government's considerable discomfiture.

* * *

It was on April 12 that the Commons learned that Ambassador Norman had had Communist associations when he was a college student. And from that revelation by Foreign Minister Pearson, the Norman case developed of its own momentum, disclosing such titillating tidbits as:

★ Norman hadn't merely associated with Reds; he had been "close to some brand of Communism" in his thinking during the '30s.

★ For 10 years the RCMP ignored a secret agent's report that a Herbert Norman, identified as a Canadian professor studying at Harvard, was a Communist.

★ The Mounties were unable to locate "Professor Norman," although inquiry at Harvard presumably would have told them that E. Herbert Norman had been studying there.

★ They failed to connect "Professor" Norman with the young diplomat E. Herbert Norman who had joined the department of external affairs in 1939.

★ The U.S. Senate sub-committee, which charged in 1950 that diplomat Norman was a Communist, obtained this 1940 RCMP report, but Pearson did not know this until he read it in the Montreal Gazette last week.

★ In October, 1950, the RCMP gave this unsupported but nonetheless damning 10-year-old allegation concerning this Canadian "Professor Norman" to the FBI, seemingly without any check on its truth.

★ Six weeks later the Mounties had proved to their own satisfaction—although presumably not to the sub-committee's — that diplomat Norman was not "Professor" Norman, or if he was, then he had not been a Communist in 1940.

★ It was not the RCMP's report to the FBI in October, 1950, on "Professor" Norman which triggered the sub-committee charge against Ambassador Norman, but rather the sub-committee charge which caused the Mounties to check their own files and find their forgotten report on Professor Norman.

★ Justice Minister Garson felt impelled to "clarify the situation" by putting out a press release which supports his cabinet colleague, Pearson, at the expense of the RCMP. Pearson had said April 17 that the Mounties got a report in October, 1950, that diplomat Norman had been a Communist in 1940. Garson said the Mounties got the report in 1940 and after a "cursory check" pigeon-holed it until 1950.

★ The inference in a statement attributed to Pat Walsh, professional anti-Communist, that Pearson had the RCMP put out this second report to whitewash Norman — a charge Pearson hastened to deny.

* * *

Add to all this the curious byroads which seem to lead nowhere, like the two versions of Norman's suicide notes, and you have a story with implications that will furnish fodder for debate not only in this election but in Parliament and the country for years to come.

The Packsack

Infantry and Amateurs

By GREGORY CLARK

YOU see by the papers that the British and American governments are considering "mothballing" 25 per cent of their armaments. A nice, motherly phrase. Some of the big, clumsy stuff, like battleships, is to be junked, as you might get rid of an old sofa at this spring cleaning season, by sending for the Veterans' Salvage.

For as you see, new conceptions of war make it wasteful and a nuisance to keep old equipment around. The next war, like the last one, is to be over in a matter of weeks, if not minutes. You remember the last war was to be over in what was called the blitzkreig — the lightning war. A matter of a few weeks.

* * *

The trouble with soldiers, even good soldiers, is that they forget from one war to the next that a lot of civilians get into it in due time. Soldiers are sentimental fellows. They like to keep alive the old tradition that wars were fought by soldiers. It is scarcely a hundred years since that was true. A couple of professional armies would manoeuvre around until they got a good battlefield, and then have at each other. It was a gentleman's game; and you hired soldiers the way you would a ship's crew or a team of footballers. Professional.

But around the time of the American Civil War, a hundred years ago, war became amateur. Everybody got into it. And with a few exceptions, it has been that way ever since. And you never know where you are with amateurs. For instance, it was a bunch of spectacled professors, most of whom wouldn't have been fit for guard duty on a dump, who invented the atomic bomb and instructed the boys in uniform just how to handle it. It certainly is a pretty dowdy bunch of deep thinkers who have thought out the giant missiles which are going to make the next war a matter of minutes.

But being amateurs, they are just as likely as not to think up something else at the very moment the missiles are about to be launched. Take the blitzkrieg, for instance. The Germans were going to overrun France with their armored divisions. Then, in their own sweet time, they would blitz England. But some utter amateur — though I understand he was pretty high up in electronics, in a bookish sort of way—came up with radar. In the nick of time. It was, of course, radar that saved Britain, for without it the Few would have been too few.

* * *

I was going to say that in the end, all wars come down to two things: the infantry and the amateurs. But of course the infantry were all amateurs a few weeks earlier. Let us never mothball the amateurs.

London Letter

Sad Blow for Highbrows

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

THE end of the Third Program seems to be in sight. The Third Program, in case you are unaware of its significance, is the BBC contribution to the highbrows of Britain. It is expensive, significant, but not extensively listened to. At its best it has had an estimated audience of 500,000 listeners but its normal number is more like 50,000. It has, of course, been a very good joke for the few music hall comedians who are left, and it has been regarded by most people as precious but occasionally interesting.

The main point of course is that it does no one any harm. There is also an inference that it does a few people quite a lot of good. Not the least of its many charms is its defiance of radio convention. It does not hesitate to use naughty words if the script justifies them; if a talk takes a bit longer than the allotted time it goes on until the speaker has finished and the program runs lazily late for the rest of the evening, just like a busy man unable to catch up on an appointment which extended beyond its allotted time. It also allows for talks beyond 15 minutes.

* * *

Apart from that its distinction is in the quality of the material. Unknown as well as known operas are performed with distinguished casts; unknown plays are revived; there are talks on obscure personalities of history; a learned professor will discourse on the love-life of a bug with all the enthusiasm of a special correspondent covering the American election results. It can be unutterably boring to you—and wildly exciting to someone else. It is a tribute and a gesture to the minority of educated people.

Granted that a concerto for lute and seven viols may not be everyone's idea of a riotous evening, or that Professor Precious' conclusions on the effect of Greek mythology on the atom scientist may not be universally acclaimed as entertainment, the fact remains that the Third Program in the 11 years of its history has provided more genuine scholarship and culture in an evening than most radio programs in a month. It has been acclaimed by world-wide recognition as a unique medium of broadcasting, and apart from the value of its transmissions to the intelligent minority it has undoubtedly been immensely valuable in encouraging scholarship, and by providing scholars with the rewards for scholarship which otherwise might not have been undertaken.

* * *

As things stand the BBC has decided to cut Third Program transmissions to three hours daily, with provision for special extensions before and after normal transmission times so as to allow for complete broadcasts of opera and drama in their entirety. The decision is acclaimed as a compromise in a world where television is in the ascendancy and sound broadcasting is regarded as being on its way out, although it still caters for nearly twice as many listeners as viewers. The passing of the Third will be regretted even by the majority who do not listen to it. Actually there must be very few listeners in Britain who have not listened to it once or twice in the last 10 years, because its variety has been boundless — so much so that some programs which were at first regarded as of very limited appeal have "graduated" to the more popular services.

Current programs, for example, have given us a complete Bayreuth performance of "Parsifal" extending to nearly five hours, a talk on the "strange relations between Chinese actors and the dead," readings of very modern verse, a talk on "Sisyphus and His Toys," a chronicle of the development of English drama since 1580, talks on logic, law and research; studies in the interpretation of music (including the playing of the same piece by half a dozen different interpreters), such things as architecture in England two centuries ago and human problems in architecture, archaelogical discussions and profound discourses on the effect of the family environment of Mozart, and recitals of music by virtually unknown mediaeval composers.

All these things add up to the Third Program. It pays only casual tribute to the world in which we live —but at least it has helped scholars to live, and students to hear things which otherwise would never be available to them. As an instrument of minority education and significance it has been unrivalled and its condensation into three hours instead of an average six hours daily is regarded as the thin end of the wedge.

Hardest hit, of course, will be the long-haired professors and the precious musicians who perform on rare, obsolete instruments who will find that they have lost a valuable source of income. There is little doubt that the nation will be the poorer, as in effect the Third has been the patron of the arts and scholarship as well as a medium of delight for the most intelligent group of listeners. It is as though the connoisseur of fine wines had been condemned to drink beer for the rest of his days.

Letters to the Editor

Woes Exaggerated

Criticism of the work being done on the Malahat has another side to it. I travel this part of the highway often, so I am familiar with the difficulties.

There are numerous rock cuts, and some of it very hard. Automobiles, mostly for pleasure, stream over it in both directions. The work is seriously hampered and delayed; large machines and equally large trucks are continually being held up and are being moved to accommodate the travel. The rock cuts are so considerable that it is asking too much, in my view, to have wider or better shoulders, and it would be too costly.

It is not long ago that the motorist had to put up with detours much worse in our Island road work. It is not long ago, also, when work was done only in short stretches, and then stopped—"the appropriation has run out"—until next year. Is it not better to have it done all at once, and then have something when it is finished?

As far as the men on the job are concerned, I will say that the foremen seem always hard on the job, and so are the men doing the work. I will also say this, that the foreman and his men are most obliging and courteous, although the hundreds of automobiles must be very annoying.

I feel that the West Coast road should have been built years ago (it was promised politically for over 40 years) and it should be built now. It would relieve the up-Island traffic considerably; it would cause development of many mining prospects, and make a scenic route second to none. It should, of course, follow the West Coast to the mouth of the Alberni Canal, thence up the canal to the prosperous Albernis and the rest of the Island. It is also easier to construct than the Malahat.

Greenhouse Man Dies In Excitement of Fire

Fire which stemmed from an overheated chimney early yesterday caused the death of William Pugh, 65, well-known Saanich greenhouse operator.

The fire, to which Saanich firemen were called at 2.19 a.m., caused slight damage in the greenhouse furnace room at 3900 Finnerty Road.

Death of Mr. Pugh was attributed to natural causes. He had suffered from a heart condition for several years.

The alarm was sounded by a taxi driver returning from Camp Gordon Head. Seeing flames on the roof of the greenhouse, the driver returned to the camp and called in the alarm.

COLLAPSES

The driver also roused Mr. Pugh, who rushed to the furnace room, adjacent to the house. There he connected a garden hose and opened windows to clear away smoke, but collapsed on the floor before he was able to turn on the hose.

First of two Saanich trucks to arrive, from the Shelbourne and Douglas Halls, found Mr. Pugh on the earth floor of the furnace room.

Deputy Chief Glen Robbins, on his way to the fire, was radioed to pick up the resuscitator. The firemen worked over Mr. Pugh for half an hour before a doctor arrived.

Fire was confined to woodwork immediately around the brick chimney, which firemen said was too hot to touch.

Earlier the previous evening sparks had been seen flying from the greenhouse chimney, but later on everything appeared in order. However, it is believed that what was actually a chimney fire had spread through the heated bricks to the surrounding woodwork of the sitting and roof.

FUNERAL SET

Funeral services for Mr. Pugh, who had been in business in Saanich for 45 years, will be held at 1.15 p.m. Saturday at McCall's Funeral Home. Burial will be at Royal Oak.

He is survived by his widow, Effie, at home; a daughter, Edna, and son-in-law, Nick Youritchuk, 3898 Finnerty.

Youth Hurt In Fall

A Surrey youth sustained only head cuts and shock yesterday when he fell 50 feet from a vessel in drydock at Esquimalt.

James McDowell, 19, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital at 5.30 p.m. yesterday. His condition was described as good last night.

McDowell fell 50 feet from the B.C. Coast Steamship vessel Princess Marguerite, while the ship was undergoing repairs in the government graving dock.

Father, Son Win $4,100 In Damages

Damages totalling $4,100 have been awarded a Victoria father and son in a judgment handed down by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in Supreme Court.

The two were injured in a collision Aug. 27, 1954, at Superior and Menzies. Charles Falta, 2409 Vancouver, suffered injuries which kept him in hospital two weeks, and his son Joseph, then 19, sustained less serious injuries.

The judgment awarded Mr. Falta $3,500 and his son $600.

Lawrence Venuti of Nanaimo, driver of the other car, denied negligence. Ruling of Mr. Justice Macfarlane, however, was that Venuti was "in the wrong" because he failed to stop at the intersection, or to see a flashing red light.

Further, Venuti's windows were so fogged at the time that he could not see to his right.

NANAIMO — B.C. government survey of retail and wholesale businesses began here Tuesday. Jack Meredith and Ron Knight of the government service are being helped by 12 local men loaned by Nanaimo business firms. Result of the survey should determine the suitability of the district for new industry.

Veteran Hangs Up Paddle

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—The Ss. Moyie, Canada's only active stern-wheeler, twirls its paddle-wheel for the last time Saturday to end a romantic era in Western Canada transportation.

The CPR is replacing its Mississippi steamboat-style craft with a screw-propelled tug.

The Moyie was built in Toronto 60 years ago and was originally intended for gold rush service on the Stikine River between Wrangell, Alaska, and Telegraph Creek, B.C.

SCOTTISH AREA

Cromarty Firth, land-locked inlet of the North Sea in Scotland, is 18 miles long with maximum width of five miles.

The gold fever cooled in those parts, however, before the Moyie reached its destination and her 1,000 dismantled parts were diverted here where the ship was reassembled in 1898 for service on Kootenay Lake.

For the last 58 years the paddle-wheeler, her single stock belching smoke, has churned up and down this 70-mile-long lake.

[illegible] elled the equivalent of 60 times around the world.

The Moyie is 161 feet long and weighs 830 tons. Drawing a mere four feet of water at the stern and virtually none at the bow, it has been a frequent boast she can float with ease on a heavy dew.

The provincial government has placed $7,500 towards the preservation of the sternwheeler and it is expected to be turned into a museum. Both the city of Nelson and Kaslo, one of the Moyie's stopping places, want it as a tourist attraction.

Cub-Comforters

Bottles of honey and milk are served for dinner to these bear cubs being mothered by Wilbur and Ronnie Strength of Gravenhurst, Ont. They adopted the cubs after Wilbur, 18, shot their mother when they stumbled on her den near Gravenhurst. The mother bear was within a few feet of Wilbur when he felled her with a shot through the head. (CPC).

Assessors

Officials Start School

Some of the pupils at Central Junior High School smoked between classes yesterday, but the teachers didn't mind.

The regular students are on vacation, and taking their places at desks in the junior high school were B.C. provincial and municipal assessors.

About 150 of them began three-day courses in various aspects of assessment, provided by the provincial government through the office of the assessment equalization commissioner.

Aim of the courses is to secure, throughout the province, a common approach to assessment of land and improvements.

Off Sidney

Fishboat Aground On Reef

Hard on a reef near Sidney, a U.S. fishboat last night was awaiting the arrival of an American Coast Guard vessel and another high tide for release.

The halibut schooner Lindy, about 75 feet in length, ran up on Arachne Reef, in Prevost Sound between Moresby and Gooch Islands, at about 3 a.m. Wednesday.

Her crew, thought to number about eight, was still aboard and considered in no danger.

Lindy's radio calls for help were relayed by Air-Sea Rescue at Vancouver to the Patricia Bay Airport control tower.

The tower called Capt. F. E. Lewis, of nearby Coal Island, who stood by the Lindy until the latter's captain assured him there was no danger.

Electronics Body Holds Convention

More than 55 radio and electronic wholesalers will take part in the two-day annual convention of the Canadian Electronic Wholesalers' Association which opens in the Empress Hotel today.

Western division of the association met yesterday for elections, choosing as directors E. J. Harris, Vancouver; William Bowley, Edmonton, and Leo Rosenberg, Winnipeg. These three and John Dunn, Vancouver, retiring national president; Alex Grant, Edmonton, and Jim White, Regina, were named western executive committee members.

Dean Raps Education

'Slaves to Textbooks'

TORONTO (CP) — N. V. Scarfe, dean of education at the University of British Columbia, condemns what he calls the slavish dependence of Canadian schools on textbooks, note-taking and drill an review.

"The project method that once had so much promise has degenerated into a textbook hunt for other people's ideas," he said.

"Information, facts and ideas are often indiscriminately amassed like the squirrel collects nuts."

Speaking to the Ontario Education Association, Mr. Scarfe said that in spite of the [illegible] ing from books and encyclopedias, they are less informed and less wise. The amount of thought devoted to the material was small.

"Instead of putting children in experimental situations so they can find out ideas from problems studied by themselves, we are still teaching the old-fashioned method of information, explaining information and testing information that is learned by heart."

Mr. Scarfe said civilized behavior should be the outcome of training the future citizen to think for himself and to live "more abundantly."

"We hope he will read his newspaper more intelligently, listen to his radio more critically, look at his television with greater discrimination, vote more wisely and use his leisure time more constructively."

Teachers Reject Link with Labor

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The British Columbia Teachers' Federation late Wednesday spurned for the second consecutive year a proposal from some of its members to affiliate with the Canadian Labor Congress.

By a vote of 344-251, some 600 teacher delegates terminated a [illegible] crushed a formal resolution put forward by Vancouver secondary school teachers. A similar proposal was rejected by a margin of 302-275 at the federation's annual meeting last year.

If approved, the resolution would have linked the sounding-board of virtually all the province's teachers to an organization embracing some 1,000,000 members.

A preamble to the resolution said alliance with labor would "provide the teaching profession with another opportunity to contribute its opinions to the shaping of Canadian society." Sponsors pointed out that British Columbia's teachers were affiliated with the old Trades and Labor Congress from 1945 to 1956.

Teachers Plead

Don't Label All Students As Hoodlums

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. teachers do not want the discipline problems and hoodlum troubles of some schools to reflect on students as a whole.

Delegates to the teachers' convention here this week have repeatedly approached reporters to emphasize that the big majority of students are fine young people.

Many teachers said the average student is better behaved and a better citizen than when they went to school.

* * *

Delegates debating sex education decided only senior teachers should attempt it.

H. B. Smith, assistant superintendent of Vancouver schools, said "properly mature experienced teachers should not be afraid of discussing subjects like sex, narcotics, or anything else" in appropriate classes.

He added that the teacher must be confident he can keep the subject "in due bounds."

* * *

Dr. George Reavis, education counsellor with the Field Foundation in Chicago, told the convention:

"It is better to teach children a little and teach it well than to have them misunderstand a lot. The teacher must decide how much can be taught and taught well."

Dr. Reavis said it is time to get back to the fundamentals in education. Some U.S. high schools were splitting their curriculum into as many as 400 subjects.

* * *

The public will be shocked into "full awakening" this fall to the extremely serious shortage of teachers in B.C., according to the new president of B.C. Teachers' Federation.

Mollie E. Cottingham of Vancouver said the shortage this fall "will be the worst ever." She added that a recent survey showed that more than 20 per cent of the teachers in half the school districts outside Vancouver were underqualified.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The president of British Columbia's 50,000-member Parent-Teacher Federation called on its members Wednesday to "seek to direct administrative policy of the schools."

At the same time, the president, Mrs. W. B. McDonald, attacked what she termed apathy indifference and confused objectives of federation members.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dr. Meredrith Jones, head of the French department of the University of Manitoba, said Wednesday that modern high school is "democracy gone mad, crazy."

"We have to take anybody who has two legs, can walk and has reached a certain age. We put him in high school and he has to stay there."

He said teachers are frightened that they will have to educate the students, so instead they fall into the trap of taking the easy road of teaching the textbook and do not deal in ideas but in mechanisms.

Parks Body Favors Entertainment

City council parks committee gave its support yesterday to a suggestion that the city entertain about 125 delegates to the International Northwest Parks Association during its convention in Victoria from Aug. 1 to 3.

Lukens Trade Twice Halted At New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Lukens Steel swung through an arc of more than 12 points to enliven an already active, higher stock market.

Aircrafts shook off their recent jitters of lower defence spending talk and ran up 1 to 3 points at their best. Coppers strengthened on hopes for firmer prices. Steels generally advanced. Chrysler again led the motors up. Oils ruled strong. Sugars continued to display strength. Special issues produced some wide gains.

Lukens Steel opened at 103 up 3 points, rose to 110¼ and then plummetted to 103. At the latter level it was suspended to permit matching of orders. Trading resumed at 1.33 p.m. on 7,500 shares at 98¼. The stock then ran up to 105 at 1.40 and was suspended again. It closed 101¼.

Domestic corporate bonds advanced irregularly in moderate activity with convertible industrials gaining in line with stocks.

Profits Taken

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market closed mixed to slightly lower Wednesday after a session of slower trading, marked by profit-taking in all sections but coppers.

Observers said the Middle East situation, which became a bit more tense overnight, was one of the reasons behind the cautious frame of mind held by the majority of investors. One encouraging sign, however, was the slowdown in activity while prices declined, they said.

Senior base metals dipped lower in afternoon trading. International Nickel led with a 2¼-point loss at 107½. Uraniums eased, led by Consolidated Denison at 22½, down ¾. Coppers moved higher in late trading. Halliwell gained 17 cents at $1.24 and Chibougamau Jaculet 13 cents to $2.35.

Western oils were off in almost a solid line. There were a few gains, however, but most were confined to 10 cents or less. North Canadian was up 35 cents at $5.25. Security lost 35 cents at $5.15 and Canadian Export Gas 25 cents to $6.55.

Base Metals Slip

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges closed in an irregularly easier tone.

Base metals were lowest with Hudson Bay losing 3 points at 77 while International Nickel dropped 1⅝ to 108½ and Aluminium dropped 1⅜ to 132. Asbestos eased ¾ at 33 and Noranda at 53 was down ½. Inter-Provincial Pipe Lines slipped a point to 58¼.

In steels Algoma gained a point at 126 while Atlas dropped to 26½ and Dominion Steel at 21½ was down ⅝. In constructions, Canada Cement at 29¾ and Dominion Bridge at 24¼ each slipped ½ while Foundation was down ¼ to 23¾. B.C. Phone was high in utilities with a point-increase at 46½ while Power Corp. added ⅝ at 70¾. Other sections were generally mixed in a ½-point range.

Mines and oils were mixed. Stanleigh at 6.25 and Copper Rand at 4.10 each advanced 15 cents while Mercedes at 50 and Montgary at 2.45 each moved up 5 cents. Del Rio dropped 20 cents to 6.25 while Home Oil A at 21 and Home Oil B at 20½ each dropped ½. United Oils at 3.60 and Canadian Atlantic at 7.90 each dropped 10 cents.

Obstruction Of Police Costs $100

A fine of $100 was imposed on Timothy W. Rogers, 18, convicted in city police court of obstructing a police officer, when he appeared for sentence in city court yesterday.

Rogers, court had been told, had interfered when police officers sought to break up disturbances April 13 at Memorial Arena, during a rock-and-roll dance.

Defence counsel G. J. Sullivan voiced a plea for leniency in view of accused's age and the fact he had no previous record.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall told Rogers he was keeping his age and record in mind. Because of these, and the fact Rogers had already spent about 10 days in custody, he was fining him $100 or in default 30 days.

However the magistrate warned Rogers that his conduct had been highly improper and said any continuation of such behavior must result in a jail sentence.

Case Dismissed

Earl Douglas Dunnett, 2804 Foul Bay Road, won dismissal of a charge of careless driving.

Police evidence was that Mr. Dunnett's car had struck a parked car on Bay between Shelbourne and Richmond roads on April 7. The Dunnett vehicle had then gone about 200 feet before coming to a stop.

Mr. Dunnett's explanation was that his right front tire had blown, and he had trouble regaining control of the car.

Plea Changed

John Wesley Starck of Thetis Lake, who earlier had pleaded not guilty to careless driving, changed his plea to guilty yesterday when he appeared on a warrant. He was fined $35 plus $3.50 costs and undertook to drive for business purposes only for a month.

His car, court was told, had struck and demolished a parking meter on Fisgard when leaving the city market yard, March 16.

* * *

Drivers Fined

Two other drivers pleaded guilty to careless driving charges.

Dallas Gordon Greig of Langford had driven north on Wharf April 13 against a red light colliding with a car driving on Johnson. He was fined $35.

Because he failed to remain at the scene, Greig was fined an additional $50. Question of licence suspension was remanded.

David H. Pratheroe, 222 Anson Crescent, was in a collision at Johnson and Store with a B.C. Electric bus then with a parked car. He was fined $40, and his licence suspended.

* * *

No Licence

Chu Ming, 544½ Fisgard, pleaded guilty to driving without a valid driver's licence and to missing a stop sign. He was fined $25 plus $5 interpreter's fee on the first charge, and $5 on the second.

First quarter profits of Nickel Rim Mines Ltd. were $352,000, compared with $396,922 for the whole of 1956.

G. H. Johnson, president, says the company is milling at the rate of 1,000 tons a day and this should be increased to 1,200 tons by the end of the year. Ultimate capacity is 1,500 tons.

Plans are progressing for a smelter in the Sudbury area to be financed through retained earnings. Broken ore reserves exceed 400,000 tons.

Four Perish in Tug

MONTREAL (CP)—Three men and a woman were drowned Wednesday in Montreal's murky harbor waters when trapped aboard the tug John Pratt which rolled on her side and sank in a towing mishap with the Swedish freighter Nyland. Four men escaped.

The tug blocked the channel into part of the harbor, halting the Cunard Steam Ship Company liner Saxonia a few hundred yards from her berth and threatening to do the same today for her sister ship Ivernia and the Canadian Pacific's Empress of France scheduled to arrive from Britain.

In a swift noontime waterfront tragedy, eyewitnesses related the 166-ton tug — one of two working for her sister the Nyland into her Shed 16 slip — was pulled sideways. Between current and the pull she dipped over and sank in about two minutes, her hoarse whistle blowing futilely.

Four survivors bobbed to the surface or rode the capsized John Pratt till she sank and then swam to rescue boats.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

It seems only last week that Nanaimo was celebrating the winning of the Mann Cup by the Timbermen but here we have a new lacrosse season with its tomorrow night Tempus aure

It's a crucial season with fan support the paramount question to be watched more closely even than the progress of the four competing clubs. It has to be the season which ends the trend of ever smaller crowds and any improvement in the support for lacrosse could well be an indication that the lean years are about over for spectator sport.

That there is increased lacrosse interest in Victoria seems certain. The Shamrocks have taken the lead in trying to do something about declining interest and there is considerable evidence of gains. People are again talking about lacrosse and season ticket sales have been encouraging.

That's as it should be for the lacrosse goose hangs high in Victoria this season. The Shamrocks have brought back Jack Bionda, the game's most colorful and perhaps best player. They have brought back speedy Bob Dobie and added expert faceoff man Barry Brenner, popular Don Sherry and two promising Ontario youngsters. This could turn out to be the best Shamrock team yet. I say maybe. Timbermen will dispute this, the Victoria club has to rate as the team to beat as the season opens.

Fortunately, there is a good chance that the Timbermen will be able to put up a strong argument although the loss of coach Harry Wappel perhaps for the season is a serious matter.

The Mann Cup champions have lost the underrated Bob Baffert and the high-scoring Sherry and Tommy White as well as Wappel and the season will be a month old before they get the services of league scoring champion Bob Allan. As replacements they have two good bets in Skip McKay and Harold Fox and they claim Barry Ashbee will be an asset. Probably not quite as strong as they were at the end of last season, the Timbermen are still good.

But while strong clubs in Nanaimo and Victoria are necessary to the success of the Inter-City Lacrosse League, they by no means exist.

There has to be more than two teams and everything depends on what the two married in-laws, New Westminster Salmonbellies and Vancouver Pilseners, do. If the Pilseners, as pre-season favorites, don't be outclassed in games at Victoria and New Westminster they'll be lucky to finish ahead of Victoria. Nanaimo, which looked amazingly good when it defeated the Victoria club twice in the Mann Cup series, has no chance to do so unless the West Coast lies on the Lower Mainland.

Random Harvest

This career's guess is that it will be Victoria Shamrocks, Nanaimo Timbermen, New Westminster Salmonbellies and Vancouver Pilseners, reading from the top when the Inter-City Lacrosse League season ends. Coach Jake Proctor was interested in trading for Jackie Northup and Bob Bremner of the Shamrocks and he retired? Archie Browning were interested in playing for Salmonbellies but Victoria coach Whitey Severson stuck out his tongue in cheek when he protested about poaching offers. It's a common practice and, in a manner of speaking, the sons the Rocks got Bob Bremner, Don Sherry, Lou Landess and Northup, to say nothing of Browning and Severson himself. Lacrosse correspondence starts long before the opening game. The thought still lingers here that it's too bad the ICLL didn't approve the Shamrocks' suggestion of a time limit on selecting. Whatever attracting may will, to more than anything to keep fans back. . . . For those who have asked, little Jehosie Heard is again pitching for Havana Sugar Kings in the International League and outfielder Granny Gladstone is back with St. Paul Saints in the American Association. . . . Nanaimo's soccer club wants to check Victoria fans and Punjab United, the opponents in an exhibition game here last Sunday, for helping the hard to build a home for the family of Tommy White. About $[illegible] came left at the game. . . . everything is happening to the Pittsburgh Pirates this season. They even lost outfielder Lee Walls (eye several days because he was struck by an eye-pine. Really on top of the pile have complete Tommy Gorman, a [illegible] outfielder stopped in Walls hard as Walls shot back to a bag. Four stitches were needed. . . . 12 out of 14 golf clubs have already placed entries for next year's bonspiel at the Victoria Curling Club. It will be played the week previous to the Macdonald's Brier playdowns and almost certainly will set more than the maximum number of rinks. . . . Lucien Dechene, to the surprise of no one, has been selected as the all-star goalkeeper in the Eastern Division of the Western Hockey League. Teammates Bob Chrystal, defence, and Ray Manson, wing, were also named all-stars.

QUICK ONES DEPARTMENT . . . Brandon Regals to wind up the week-end series tonight. Cincinnati, Brooklyn, Boston, Detroit and Cleveland in today's major league baseball. Tomorrow Spokane to be the Allan Cup series. Ottawa Canadiens to win the first game of the Memorial Cup final and the Shamrocks batting average to fate. At bat 55, hits 42, percentage .782.

Interior Star Scores Upset; City Aces Win

Stuart in Slump

Brash Rookie Slugger Has Quick Comedown

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Rookie Dick Stuart has had one of the fastest baseball comedowns since "Casey at the Bat," but Hollywood manager Clyde King is sticking with him — at least for the present.

King, who watched Stuart slump badly after a first week home-run spree, commented wryly:

"Since I'm disappointed, but not as much as most people, I keep Stuart couldn't keep the pace. No one could.

"Stuart led all baseball in homers last season by hitting 66 for Lincoln, Neb., and popped five in Hollywood's spring series against San Diego. This apparently led him to believe sport page spectators thought he was off and running toward the Pacific Coast League home-run crown.

"When Rocky Bridges, ex-Cub Phillies and Cleveland slugger, watched Stuart's fielding the Mexican and rookie replied that homer was a great hitter, yes, but not the fielder Stuart is right now.

"Homer certainly was no great chance in the glove department but Stuart well he patrols right field for the Stars with all the grace of a gazelle on snow shoes.

"Stuart's success in the league has been his work at the plate. That's until nine games ago. Since then he has picked up only four hits in [illegible] and struck out 16 times.

"We're working on Stuart's hitting and I'm stacking with him at least for a while," King said. "I'm still convinced the kid is potentially a great major league hitter.

"Opposing pitchers haven't found any glaring weakness in Stuart's strike zone," King said.

"Stuart is a bit discouraged but mainly unperturbed.

"I'm glad I'm having my slump now instead of at the end of the year," he said adding.

After all, Ted Williams went 0 for 27 last year and still batted .345."

NHL Boss Defends Own Plan

MONTREAL (CP) — Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said yesterday that no one is keener than I am to improve the pension plan. [illegible]

Campbell, president and administrator of the NHL pension plan, spoke in reference to a statement by the NHL Players' Association that they had to seek improvement in the pension plan. Delegates from each of the six NHL clubs met in Toronto Monday and released a short statement urging the association's aims.

In addition to the pension plan, they said they want a cash participation in the proceeds from television and a suggestion [illegible] the gate of the all-star game. [illegible] December when the pension [illegible] than at the opening of the season, plus one at the same time as the all-star game.

Campbell said the plan has been "tremendously improved" since it was first started and "has turned out infinitely better than any of us ever hoped for."

"I have toiled many long hours and worked very hard, harder than any of them to make this plan work," he added.

[illegible] the president of the Toronto Maple Leafs said the players ought to buy NHL clubs if they wanted to gain more from the league.

"If they're going to take over the league let them buy stock," he said. "They might as well be realistic about it."

Referring to the players' contention of seeking a share of the television receipts, Smythe said players are already getting their share of the profits from televised games.

Where do they think the [illegible] are coming from, he asked. Their minimum is already higher than baseball. Baseball players play 154 games a year . . . hockey players 70. No players on the Toronto team received less than $6,000. How many baseball players do better than that.

Campbell agreed with Smythe on showing the TV receipts and pointed out that the money received from the 70 regular games that were [illegible] was only [illegible] the said that and more [illegible] $[illegible] a game from $[illegible] and some of the owners lost money on the [illegible].

Were promoting our own league attraction when we take [illegible] games," he added. And [illegible] "It's just indemnity against [illegible]."

DON NEWCOMBE

What's happened to Don Newcombe, who won 27 games for the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1956 but has been unable to finish two starts this spring.

"I'm okay," says big Newk.

"[illegible] Newcombe," insists Walter Alston, the mild-mannered Brooklyn manager, adding:

"I've seen Newcombe in better form. I have seen him with better control, and I have seen him throw a lot harder. But his arm is not sore."

Meanwhile, there was talk that the $30,000-a-year right-hander, the "most valuable player" in the National League last year, may be in danger of losing his [illegible]

Don Drysdale, Sandy Koufax and Don Bessant all are bidding for starting assignments with the defending champions.

Alston indicated he would give Newcombe every chance to find his old form. "He'll be all right," the manager said.

In two starts, the towering righthander has given up 16 hits, nine for extra bases, and nine earned runs in nine and one-third innings. Newcombe hurled seven innings in the opening game of the season, allowing seven hits and five runs.

In his second start—last Sunday—Don lasted only two and one-third innings. He took an unmerciful shellacking, yielding three successive home runs on four pitches in the third inning.

PORT ALBERNI — Appointment of an inspector to protect Port Alberni's watershed is being considered by city council.

Moves were made after the San Juan Logging Co. Ltd. moved into the area to log land covered by three old mining claims.

Finance committee was empowered to hire an applicant George McCartright if agreement could be reached.

Aldermen Query Building Rules, Inspection 'Army'

Stringency of Victoria building regulations was attacked yesterday by Ald. Elmer McEwen, and the multiplicity of city inspectors by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

But they and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson [illegible] of an elderly Douglas Road resident [illegible] move out of the basement apartment.

CONVERSION SOUGHT

Actually, the building inspector informed the committee the owner of the house had applied for permission to convert it from a single-family dwelling to a rooming house, and the zoning board of appeals had turned it down. To do so, he would make it impossible [illegible] sanitary inspector, [illegible] inspector, building inspector, plumbing inspector, fire chief and smoke inspector.

The board also ruled that there must be no living accommodation in the basement, which has a ceiling far lower than the 7 feet, 6 inches minimum allowed by building regulations.

"I think the regulations are far too stringent," said Ald. McEwen. "The wiring regulations for instance, are [illegible] inspectors making them [illegible] sort of obstacles."

BACK EMPLOYEES

[illegible]

Mr. Edgelow complained that there were too many inspectors. What, he wanted to know, had the smoke inspector to do with a case of this kind?

[illegible]

COMPLAINTS CITED

"A carpenter knows his job, why do we have to have a man come around and tell him he [illegible]?" Ald. Edgelow [illegible]. He said he [illegible] Aldermen McEwen and Mrs. Wilson didn't agree.

[illegible]

AMEND BY-LAW

Mr. Wyatt suggested that Ald. Edgelow actually wanted to amend the building by-law to reduce the height of ceiling required.

"Poor old soul, she's possibly five feet two in height, and there's nothing worse in her living under a six-foot ceiling than in Ald. McEwen living under a seven-and-a-half-foot ceiling," said Ald. Edgelow.

Overjoyed Bennett Returns But Battle Still Lies Ahead

By PETER BRUTON

An exuberant and confident Premier Bennett returned to Victoria yesterday as overjoyed at the success of his foray into Eastern Canada as the Duke of Wellington after the Battle of Waterloo.

[illegible] "an enthusiastic meeting, a dandy turnout, a great success way above my expectations."

"I had the pleasure of addressing the largest crowd of electors that has been assembled in one place at one time in all Canada since the federal election was announced," he said.

[illegible]

"My friend during an election campaign I never change my estimate," he replied.

[illegible]

'Strong Man of B.C.'

Referring to CCF opposition to means tests for old age pensioners, the premier stated: "When the CCF oppose that they mean millionaires must get the same pension as those in need who have fallen on hard times. Why the premier of Canada is drawing his basic $40 a month old age pension."

[illegible]

Someone else asked him why not?, a reporter asked.

"My friend, that is [illegible] a minimum," said the premier.

Largest Vessel — Joins Force Here

RCMP Fleet Grows to 11

By COURTNEY TOWER

Staff Sgt. Fred Brooksbank punched the automatic engine controls with confidence yesterday and the 1,200-horsepower diesels of RCMPS Victoria responded nobly.

The sea run of the force's newest and largest West Coast patrol vessel went off without a hitch. There was no repetition of the disappointment of February, when an engine broke down on what was to have been the Victoria's "final" sea trial.

The "floating detachment" which will go into operation out of this port in about two weeks proved to be a powerful patrol vessel with modern equipment and lovely to handle.

This last came from Sgt. Brooksbank, the skipper, who had put the Victoria into a high-speed turn that proved her manoeuvreability. It was echoed by Supt. C. B. Macdonell, administrator of F. Division, which takes in all of B.C.

For other vital statistics the twin-screw craft is 92 feet long, with a 19-foot six-inch beam. 84 tons, has an all steel hull and aluminum superstructure and whistles along at a top speed of [illegible] knots.

The craft has no open port holes as a protection [illegible] of an [illegible] tested the engines. It has the latest radio direction [illegible]

French Canadian Recipes Wanted

In answer to my recent query it was quite surprising to hear from more than a few readers who, at one time or another had lived in the province of Quebec. Many thanks for your letters. Here's what happened: [illegible] Habitant Pea Soup a French Canadian speciality. Well my friends for once I got a literal blast (excuse the expression) from a reader who protested that I had completely "messed up" said recipe. She admitted she was not born there but had been brought up in a French section of Montreal. That in itself amuses me because that enormous metropolis hardly typifies the immense province.

It just so happens I have many a time been through most of what you might call Quebec's hinterland. And in the small towns and villages I have learned a lot about French-Canadian cookery. The recipe was given me by a typical "menagere" and had been endorsed by one of Quebec's best known feminine politicians. So for once I thought I'd stick up for myself and, nothing daunted, telephoned the lady in question. The result was we parted [illegible] I can't stand any sort of friction—life's too short. But it occurred to me some of you might have a recipe for this famous soup, or other French-Canadian recipes for that matter. And if you would care to send them along both I and many a reader would be very much interested.

Which reminds me on my list of requested recipes is one for French toast so on the heels of the foregoing remarks this seems a good time to run it. It makes a pleasant change for a breakfast of the more leisurely variety.

FRENCH TOAST

Six slices white or whole wheat bread, 2 eggs, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons butter. Beat eggs slightly, add milk and salt. Allow about half a tablespoon butter for each slice and melt this small amount on griddle or in frying pan. Dip each slice of bread first on one side and then on the other into [illegible] mixture. Place on griddle and fry slowly until browned then turn over and fry on other side.

Serve piping hot with maple syrup, jam or jelly and with additional butter if liked. This recipe can easily be reduced to the number of slices required.

Here's rather an attractive variation of the above, more suitable for a light lunch . . .

FRENCH TOAST SANDWICHES

Cut the bread thinly—ready-sliced bread is too thick for this [illegible] Make into the required number of sandwiches and [illegible] Then dip the sandwiches into the eggs mixture and fry as for French toast. Don't forget to [illegible] the edges as these are quite [illegible] on the outside. Excellent [illegible] we've been going rather lightly on them lately.

RHUBARB COBBLER

(about 6 servings)

Three cups rhubarb, cut in one-inch pieces, 1 cup sugar, or ½ sugar and ½ honey; 3 tablespoons flour; 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind; 2 tablespoons lemon [illegible] 2 tablespoons granulated sugar; ½ teaspoon cinnamon or allspice; a few chopped nuts. Put rhubarb in shallow baking dish along with 1 cup sugar, combined with the flour. Add lemon [illegible] and water. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Mean while prepare a cobbler topping: Sift remaining sugar, flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon together. Add butter and milk. Stir only until dry ingredients are moistened. Drop by spoonfuls on top of hot fruit. Bake about 1 minute until biscuits are done. Serve hot with cream, if possible. Rhubarb served hot like this necessitates the rather large quantity of sugar called for in the recipe.

TRICK OF THE DAY

A pair of tweezers are excellent for removing those "pesky" little eyes from fresh pineapple. Also a sprinkle of salt on the pineapple slices or cubes will bring out the flavor wonderfully well. By the way, as all English readers would realize, the name of our first recipe last Tuesday should have read Cornish Pasties.

Tailored Topper

By TRACY ADRIAN

This upholstered topper is ideal for complementing the early spring suits and the dresses and prints that will come a little later on for daytime wear.

Designed by our own American milliner, La Rhe North-Hize, it is typical of what the well-dressed woman will choose. The hat is made of Italian straw in a natural straw color. It is set off with a wide navy grosgrain ribbon band that ends in a formal bow.

Thin Out Perennials

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Our job which shouldn't be put off any longer is the thinning of the perennial plants. These plants—the delphiniums, phlox, Michaelmas daisies and the like—are spreading up far more shoots than their roots can support, and unless these are thinned out, the clump will be crowded and overgrown and the floral display will be disappointing.

While growth is still fairly young and tender, the weaker shoots should be removed by pulling them away cleanly from their base. The remaining shoots, which should naturally be the strongest and most vigorous, will give surprising spikes of bloom under these less competitive conditions.

After the clumps are [illegible] this is a good idea to spread a top-dressing of well-rotted manure, which few of us can get our hands on these days, a good substitute is a mixture of peat moss and [illegible] cups of the fertilizer to every bucket of peat moss.

It is now time to move some of these plants, this is an excellent time to take cuttings, using the bits and pieces removed in the process of thinning the clumps.

Trim them up neatly, making the [illegible] and dip the base in a short dip [illegible] a hormone rooting powder and insert the cuttings in a shady bed of sand and covering each one with an upended jam jar.

While [illegible] the perennial plants [illegible] I clean a little and take [illegible] cuttings away down below the soil [illegible] to get them with a few [illegible] attached.

These are known as "Irishman's cuttings," and they grow away a lot more quickly than the legitimate clean-cut slips. This technique is not advisable with phlox, though, as this plant is often infested with eelworm, a microscopic parasite which invades the tissues of the roots, and if you take the cuttings too low down, you run the risk of propagating a colony of eelworms along with your slips.

The flag irises can do with a little [illegible] to get really fine bloom from them. These plants are lime lovers, so add a cup of hydrated lime to the peat-fertilizer top dressing mixture, mixing it thoroughly before pucking it in around the irises.

When this is completed, remove any common caught up in the iris clumps, and if soil has drifted over the tops of the rhizomes remove it carefully because the iris requires a sun-tanned back if it is to perform satisfactorily.

"Panic" is a framed show out of Hollywood and has all the advantages and disadvantages. If you were East, you would [illegible] against four spades after you overcalled dummy's queen of diamonds with your king? How can you take advantage of the information revealed by the bidding, as well as the fact that declarer does not yet know that the break in the trump suit?

Here is how East reasoned. From West's jump-overcall on a just-high suit and also from West's reluctance to let the double stand, West almost certainly had seven diamonds. From the fact that South neither opened with four spades nor jumped to that contract over North's [illegible] it was unlikely that he held eight spades. Even if he held only seven spades, he would probably have opened preemptively with six as good as the ace-queen of clubs. Finally, from South's failure to let the four heart play or to raise the heart, it was apparent that he held only two hearts. Therefore East returned the three of hearts.

West won and continued by leading the ten spot. Declarer discarded one club on dummy's king of diamonds. Now he could have made his contract by taking the club finesse but he gambled that if either opponent could ruff the remaining high heart it would be the player who was long in spades so that the ruff would save dummy from losing a trump trick. But when he discarded the queen of clubs on the third round of hearts, declarer lost the trick to West's lone queen of spades and still had to surrender the setting trick to East's spade jack.

Routine thoughtless defence by East would have compelled declarer to make his contract. On a diamond continuation declarer would discard a club. Next he'd play three rounds of trumps, giving East his jack. Then if West took the ace on the first heart lead South would be able to discard a club on dummy's hearts. If West held up the ace South would be compelled to take the club finesse because it would be his last chance to get to dummy.

WINNING POINTS

Never lose sight of the bidding. The information it yields may help you to give declarer a chance to make a mistake.

TV TALK

By Bruce Lowther

More news about pay-as-you-see television:

First, the United States Federal Communications Commission, which is about to make an official test of toll TV systems, has stated that a final decision is a long way off. In fact, the FCC may even ask Congress to make the decision, which means [illegible]

Second, Ernest Stellings, president of Theatre Owners of America, has opposed any toll TV system. The two main schemes are by air from a central station, which is subject to FCC rulings and by cable to individual homes, which is subject only to municipal council rulings.

Many theatre owners want to get into the cable business, but Stellings says flatly that these owners are supporting something that will put them out of business through piping of first-run films to subscriber homes for low fees.

"Oh, brother! If I could only change channels!"

Third, toll-TV mogul Matty Fox is negotiating with the Brooklyn Dodgers' baseball team for exclusive rights to its games if and when the team is shifted to LA.

Fourth, and possibly most important, there's new proof that people don't want to pay for TV. The Minneapolis Sunday Tribune, in a Minnesota-wide survey of homes with TV, found that 75 per cent of the answers were against paying. Viewers felt they've already paid enough in buying and maintaining sets.

Tonight Helen Hayes tries her first western as a nun in Playhouse 90's "Four Women in Black." At the same time, Boris Karloff is "The Man Who Played God" on Lux Video. Only fine movie is "Tight Little Island."

* * *

TUESDAY REVIEW: "A Man's Game," the Kaiser Hour musical about baseball with Nanette Fabray, was wonderful. Music especially was good, so good in fact that composers Jack and Madeleine Segal could give lessons in TV music to Rodgers and Hammerstein.

This hasn't much to do with television, but it's quotable. Jane Russell, once the busiest of them all, says of new champ Jayne Mansfield: "I'm glad that somebody's come along to take off the curse. She can have that bit."

Quiet Celebration

Former Mayor Defends Bard

The Irish have Irish, the Scots have scotch and the English have tea, which might explain why the annual dinner of the Victoria branch of the Royal Society of St. George Tuesday night was a quiet, restrained celebration.

Some 60 residents of Victoria gathered together in the Glen Hotel to commemorate the patron saint of England and the birth of William Shakespeare.

Despite the lack of bottled spirits, ex-mayor Claude L. Harrison gained spirited approval when he repudiated claims that anyone other than Shakespeare wrote Shakespeare's works.

The day when a heavy blow will be struck against England is again approaching, Mr. Harrison continued.

"Perhaps not an immediate blow launched without warning," he said. "There is a more subtle blow—the infiltration of the minds and souls of the people."

The infiltration was going on at present, Mr. Harrison charged. "If is going on in Canada, make no mistake about that."

He said countries professing friendship to England were seeking to undermine her strength and that was why it was so important for organizations such as the Royal Society of St. George to hold together.

"Let us keep together, let us spread our own propaganda among our good friends and neighbors, whether they be far north or south," he said.

Two Eggs

Captive Whoopers Expecting

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — Zoo officials have called for expert advice on how to tend the only pair of whooping cranes in captivity and their two precious eggs.

Director George Douglass of Audubon Zoo ordered a 24-hour watch around the flood-lighted wire enclosure that is the home of Josephine and Crip to make sure the eggs are hatched.

Douglass said a wildlife expert will be brought in to supervise the incubation, which is expected to last about a month.

Last year the long-stemmed birds hatched two eggs but one chick disappeared, presumably the victim of a predatory bird, and the other died within 47 days.

Sophie Tucker explained in London why her three early marriages flopped. "Once you become the family breadwinner, it's for all time. Once a woman has bought her own mink, she's cut herself off from the "little woman role."

RN Sees Mombasa As New Singapore

LONDON (UP) — Increasing defence activity along the east coast of Africa with Mombasa emerging as a kind of Singapore naval base was foreshadowed by a Commonwealth naval conference opening here Monday.

The admiralty said the conference which would last until May 2, would be held in historic Green wich naval college and would be attended by the naval chiefs of staff of all Commonwealth members.

"It will be the largest naval conference to be held since the Second World War. Its object is to discuss matters of common interest, naval strategy and tactics," an admiralty spokesman said.

Britain's intentions in East Africa were made plain in the defence white paper which said that in order to protect her interests in southern Arabia and the Persian Gulf, land, sea and air forces would be maintained in East Africa.

A British military investigation mission already has arrived in Kenya to study the administrative problems for increasing the British forces in East Africa.

CYPRUS AIR BASE

The white paper underlined the need for Cyprus as an air base in this new defence build-up, but made no mention of a deepwater harbor for a Commonwealth naval base.

Defence observers here believe this to be a pointer to the eventual choice of Mombasa as a naval base.

This prospect of Mombasa becoming "a kind of Singapore," as official sources described it, would bring the emphasis on western defence appreciably closer to the Union of South Africa than before the British.

An important build-up of strength in East Africa would have its effect in South Africa.

On the one hand there would be more Commonwealth strength within reach to go to the help of the union and put up a resistance along the approaches from the Middle East.

On the other hand this points to increasing defence activity along the east and southern coasts of Africa and the likelihood, in a war, of naval conflict in seaways around the cape.

Prestige 'Declines'

Party 'Sheds' Eisenhower In Power Fight

LONDON (CP)—British observers detect signs that the "struggle for the succession" has already started in the United States. This has been an obsessive fear here since President Eisenhower was re-elected last November.

The worry is that Eisenhower, constitutionally barred from seeking a third term, will gradually shed his political influence as rival Republican groups jockey for leading positions in a new struggle for power.

BIGGEST WORRY

"The big political story in America now is not the state of President Eisenhower's health and his fitness for office," says Bruce Rothwell in The News Chronicle, a Liberal paper. "For the first time it is the state of his popularity and influence with the Republican party and Congress. It is in decline."

Patrick O'Donovan of The Observer, an independent paper writes from Washington:

"President Eisenhower now is involved in the most urgent political struggle of his career. There exists a reasonable doubt as to whether he is aware of the fact. In question are his budget proposals, and his defence and foreign policies are involved by implication or in fact."

O'Donovan finds the president's popularity untouched but agrees that his political influence has been "seriously diminished."

RESTIVENESS

In general, commentators tend to see a growing restiveness on the right wing of the Republican party, one sign of this being its refusal to accept the president's record peacetime budget. O'Donovan says Eisenhower's "new republicanism," an attempt at liberalizing the party, is dead.

British papers for some time have been critical of some presidential policies, claiming Eisenhower lacks a dynamic approach to world problems, but in general he has received more praise than blame. Recently there has also been a tendency among some correspondents to depict him as a man of failing health.

INLAND SEA

Sometimes called the world's largest lake, the Caspian Sea between Russia and Iran covers 168,000 square miles.

Stuck Neck Out Then Lost It!

VANCOUVER (CP)—Harold Winch, CCF member of Parliament for Vancouver East, says Premier Bennett of British Columbia stuck his neck out in Ontario and "got it chopped off."

"All his bluffing now can't hide the fact the Toronto meeting was a dismal flop. The premier's gross miscalculation has convinced me Social Credit will not elect one member east of Alberta."

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS
—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, April 25th — Breakfast in bed! There's a pleasure, isn't it? Specially with a piping hot cup of INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE to enjoy. I think every mother should have her breakfast in bed on Sundays — d'you agree? And don't worry about the work — for Instant Chase & Sanborn takes only a split second to prepare. Back of this full-bodied 100% real coffee lies nearly 100 years of Chase & Sanborn coffee experience. Just look through the window in the jar and see the rich coffee color that means real coffee flavor. Yes, you can see that this is really wonderful coffee! Then taste it — and enjoy it every day.

FRIENDS ASK: "HOW'S SIR ISAAC?" in much the same way they enquire for any member of the family . . . for our beautiful budgie has become such a saucy, lovable character. He's mad about his BROCK'S BUDGIE TREAT which is a balanced mixture of 8 favorite seeds and is one of the 5 Basic Brock Products. Always in tip-top condition, Sir Isaac is a constant delight!

WE OWN THE DEAREST DOG! I hope you do, too . . . for there's nothing more endearing than a healthy, sweet-dispositioned dog. To keep him in top condition, feed him DR. BALLARD'S CHAMPION DOG FOOD. I have had complete confidence in Champion Dog Food ever since I learned that Dr. Ballard, as a famous Veterinarian long specialized in pet foods, and created a perfectly balanced diet for all dogs. You can vary your dog's diet with Chicken, Liver or Regular flavors — and he'll thrive through the long summer months that lie ahead. A well-cared-for dog is an unending pleasure. Let Dr. Ballard help you keep yours well!

LOVELY TO LOOK AT — a delight to the taste! I'm describing the ten sun-ripened fruit flavors of LUSHUS JELLIES. There's a world of difference in the fresh-fruit taste of these delicious jellies . . . each one a pleasure to serve. The makers of Lushus have greatly increased the flavor content of their exclusive flavor "bud"—so that now, as you dissolve the "bud" you bring the full fresh quality of the fruits to your jelly. You'll feel there's nothing like Lushus! I like to keep several moulds of Lushus always ready in the 'frig . . . for unexpected raids by the family. Why not lay in a supply of all ten flavors? Come on . . . let's!

I CHALLENGE YOU — to make a more delicate, delicious or more flavorful soup than LIPTON CHICKEN NOODLE! We serve it several times a week — and it's always a delight. Try it sometime in this scrumptious recipe.

SUCCOTASH SOUP

Stir 1 package Lipton Chicken Noodle Soup mix into 3 cups of boiling water. Add 1 tbsp. chopped onion, ½ tsp. salt. Cover and boil for 7 mins. Stir in 1 cup cream-style corn, ½ cup cooked lima beans, 1 cup milk and 1 tsp. of butter, and heat to blend flavors. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

And oh! be sure to save all the Lipton Soup packages for your set of Royal Dutch Stainless Steel Flatware. It's beautiful — and the savings are tremendous. Ask your grocer about this wonderful offer!
